From the Area President's Desk

As we step into another year with renewed determination to achieve our dreams, I extend my heartfelt gratitude to each and every one of you for the remarkable accomplishments of Young Minds International during 2024–2026. Two years ago, Young Minds International began as an idea—a spark ignited by individuals who believed that leadership is not defined by age, but by purpose. Today, that spark has grown into a vibrant movement. We stand not only as a national force but also as a globally recognized organization, proving that when committed people unite with a shared vision for positive change, the world takes notice.

Our footprints have left lasting impressions in the communities we serve. Through our projects and initiatives, we have demonstrated that our mission goes beyond words. Our goal is to positively impact lives through active and meaningful service. We are social architects, strengthening bonds between people and fostering a spirit of unity and compassion. We could prove that when individuals come together with a common purpose, extraordinary achievements become possible. The successes of the past two years are a testament to the power of collective effort, dedicated leadership, and selfless service. As we embark on this new chapter, let us continue to dream boldly, serve passionately, and work together to create an even greater impact on society. The journey ahead is filled with opportunities, and I am confident that, united in purpose, we will achieve new milestones and inspire many more lives.

Over the past two years, our travels to different parts of the nation for meetings and service activities provided us with the privilege of meeting hundreds of dedicated, service-minded members. The warmth, love, and affection we received from them have become some of our most cherished memories. Across the country, our clubs have undertaken impactful community service projects that have transformed countless lives. Initiatives such as Renal Care programs, installation of Dialysis Machines, Homes for the Homeless, Medical Assistance, Ambulance Services, Environmental Conservation Projects, Educational Support, Cultural Events, Sports Activities, Family Festivals, and the Regular Supply of Food to those in need have been widely appreciated by the communities they serve. These meaningful efforts truly embody our motto, “To Impact Lives Through Service”. Our members are the heartbeat of this organization. What impressed us was their dedication, compassion, and commitment - the driving forces behind every success we celebrate.

Each member must always remember that this is their platform, their organization, and their opportunity to make a difference. Our members across the country - from small towns to bustling cities - deserve special appreciation for the extraordinary work they do every day. They serve not for recognition or applause, but because of their deep and unwavering belief that service has the power to transform lives. Our members deserve immense appreciation for the depth, commitment, and compassion reflected in every project they undertake. Their dedication has strengthened our organization and enhanced our reputation as a force for positive change in society. The energy, enthusiasm, and passion demonstrated by our members give us great confidence that the future will be filled with even greater achievements and inspiring success stories. As we move forward, let us continue to grow together, serve together, and create opportunities that bring purpose, hope, and joy to the lives of others. Together, let us build a brighter future and make every act of service a meaningful step toward transforming lives.

As we look ahead, we must recognize that we are not merely continuing a tradition - we are shaping the future. We live in a world where needs are constantly evolving, challenges are becoming increasingly complex, and service must be more innovative, inclusive, and purposeful than ever before. Leadership in Young Minds International is not defined by titles or positions. True leadership is about listening with understanding, empowering others to grow, and lighting the path forward for those who follow. It is about inspiring confidence, fostering collaboration, and creating opportunities for meaningful change. Those who accept leadership responsibilities must do so with gratitude, humility, and a steadfast commitment to our shared mission of “Service Above Self.” Leadership is both a privilege and a responsibility, calling upon us to serve with integrity and lead by example. This is our moment.

There is a timeless truth that a tree's strength is determined by the depth of its roots. In the same way, the strength of our organization is measured by our willingness to give, share, and care for others. The deeper our roots of compassion, service, and unity, the stronger and more resilient our organization will become. The future is ours to shape, and with unity of purpose and dedication to service, there is no limit to what we can achieve. Let us move forward not as individuals, but as one united family committed to service, driven by passion, and inspired by the belief that together we can build communities filled with hope, resilience, and opportunity. It is a privilege and an honour to walk this journey alongside every member of Young Minds International. Take pride in being part of an organization that brings together people from diverse backgrounds united by a shared commitment - to serve, to lead, and to make a difference. The friendships we build, the lives we touch, and the communities we strengthen are the true rewards of our efforts.

This is more than a call to serve; it is a call to lead through service. Let us inspire one another to dream bigger, reach farther, and create a greater impact. We encourage every member of our Young Minds International family to “Think Big” and open a “Giving Account” - an account measured not by wealth, but by acts of kindness, compassion, generosity, and service. In doing so, we create a legacy that will continue to inspire future generations. Never underestimate the power of a simple act of kindness.

Friends, our journey has never been powered by privilege, position, or age. It has been driven by passion, purpose, and the unwavering belief that age is merely a number - what truly matters is the spirit within each of us. At Young Minds International, leadership is not defined by the year of our birth but by the strength of our vision, the openness of our hearts, and the courage to transform ideas into action. Whether you are 15 or 70, if you possess a young mind - one that is eager to learn, willing to serve, and ready to lead - you have a place in this family. Today, Young Minds International is no longer just a dream or an aspiration. It has evolved into a global movement and a powerful call to action. It is a platform where ideas become initiatives, where service becomes a way of life, and where every act of kindness contributes to a lasting legacy.

What we have achieved so far is only the beginning. Our journey has just started, and the opportunities before us are limitless. The world is watching us - not with doubt, but with expectation. Communities look to us for hope, inspiration, and leadership. It is now our responsibility to rise to that expectation with determination and vision. The need of the hour is to rededicate ourselves to the ideals that brought us together. Let us renew our commitment to service, strengthen our bonds of fellowship, and pledge to carry this vision forward with integrity, passion, and purpose. Let us continue to dream boldly, serve selflessly, and lead courageously. Then together, we can create a future where compassion triumphs over indifference, where service transforms lives, and where young minds continue to inspire positive change across the world. The best chapters of our story are yet to be written. Let us write them together.

We never speak of trees as growing old; we speak of them as growing. With each passing year, they become stronger, wiser, and more deeply rooted. In the same way, we at Young Minds International believe that age is merely a number. What truly matters is our willingness to continue evolving, learning, and serving. As we look toward the future, one of our greatest priorities must be to strengthen our organization by forming new clubs and expanding our membership. Every new member brings fresh ideas, new energy, and greater opportunities to serve. Every new club extends our reach and amplifies our impact on society. The world belongs to all of us, and no borders can limit the power of friendship, fellowship, and service. Together, we are one global family united by a common purpose. Let us continue to grow, to inspire, and to build bridges across communities and nations. The future of Young Minds International is not defined by limitations but by possibilities. Let us move forward with confidence, knowing that our greatest strength lies in our unity, our vision, and our collective commitment to creating a better world through service.

Our vision for the future is clear • To strengthen our presence in every community. • To expand our reach by engaging and empowering younger generations. • To enhance our impact through investments in leadership development, diversity, innovation, and digital transformation. • And most importantly, to ensure that every act of service - whether large or small—reflects the values we cherish: compassion, respect, integrity, and a commitment to justice. It is truly remarkable that Young Minds International has earned widespread recognition and respect in such a short span of time. Across communities and nations, individuals are willingly stepping forward to become part of this movement because they believe in our vision, our values, and our mission of service. People see Young Minds International as an organization uniquely positioned to promote justice, peace, harmony, and fraternity across the world. With this growing trust comes an even greater responsibility. We must remain vigilant in ensuring that accountability, transparency, and ethical leadership are upheld in every sphere of our work and in the communities we serve. Our strength lies not merely in what we say, but in what we do. We strive to practice the values we promote and allow our actions to speak louder than our words. Through service, compassion, and leadership by example, we seek to inspire positive change and leave a lasting impact on society.

As we move forward together, let us remember the timeless principle: “Anyone who wants to be first must be the last and servant of all. “May this spirit of humility and service continue to guide our decisions, shape our leadership, and inspire our journey ahead. Together, let us build a future marked by hope, unity, and meaningful service to humanity.

Thank you for your commitment, dedication, and unwavering support.

TO BE A BETTER VERSION - Celebrating our 2nd Anniversary

Philip Thengumcheril

Greetings to all our compatriots as we step into our third exciting year. Salute to all the leaders and cadre who through their earnest efforts made it possible.

Recently, I was once again watching our inaugural ceremony. I am sure that it is worth watching often, so that we can be reminded of how it all began and what we stand for. The promises we made to ourselves should never be forgotten.

Primarily, our organization was built on certain core principles and ethical values. The Constitution echoes the resolve of the collective.

We swore to be different. Ours was a walk away from the past in search of a new future. We promised greater autonomy to the clubs, fairness and transparency at all levels, ethical conduct and wise spending among others.

I am greatly impressed by the wonderful Manuals we are bringing out. The Manual on official duties is such a simple, clear and elegant document. Am sure that our ISG's brilliance is behind it. It is a must read for all.... It is the Constitution incarnate in the simplest form.

It is expected that the Programme Directors will become vehicles of change following the high intensity training programme. From this year onwards, we should be having Project Directors appointed at all levels.

It is true that the hill before us is a bit high to climb. All social organizations do face constraints in recruitment and attendance. We need to invent ways to counter these. Exemplary community service and entertaining meetings should be our hallmark.

We must remind ourselves that we deliberately chose to be different. As such, there should be no ground for reversion to any of the old abandoned ways. We do not want parity with any other organization. The temptations to adopt practices of others or even terminology should be avoided even if it is convenient. We should be innovative. We should be able to invent rather than copy. Ultimately, we should become the model.

Only 3% of your prospective donors are ready to give now.

- 7% are close but not ready yet.
- 30% are way off.
- 60% are highly unlikely to give at all

And that's why fundraising takes time. Because you're working to your donors' timelines - they do NOT work to yours.

Charities, if you expect your fundraisers to go out and get the money in as quickly as possible- you're asking them to:

- Pitch to a cold audience - the worse possible way to ask for money.
- Only target 3% of your addressable market - leaving 37% of givers untapped.

The smart money is on - having a strategy to cultivate your FULL prospective audience.

- 60% won't give - but could be introducers or influencers.
- 30% are way off giving - but worth initiating a relationship while they're still open to the idea. This is the optimal time to start those relationships.
- 7% are open to giving and are actively planning their budgets, timelines, shortlists etc. - so your window of being on that shortlist is now starting to close.
- 3% are hot to trot.

These figures are based on the "buyer's pyramid" - think of it like the 80/20 rule (Pareto Principle). Understanding that only 10% of your qualified prospects list is actually ready to give now or within your financial year - helps you to determine how long your prospect list needs to be for you to reach your target.

It also helps charities to understand that - good fundraising includes initiating relationships that will NOT convert in this financial year.

Keeping in touch with prospects - is NOT fundraisers wasting their time on people who are not willing to give.

It is fundraisers investing their time appropriately with people who are not ready YET.

Because - "not yet" does not mean "no".

It means, stay in touch - you have a warm prospect who is going to move along the timeline into the "ready to give now" bracket.

Putting pressure on fundraisers to go out and get the money in now - means you're limiting yourself to 3% of your target market rather than engaging 40% of it strategically.

This is also why you need to retain and trade up your existing donors (new business can be achieved by growing the donors you already have alongside new donors).

A combination of - retention, trading up existing donors, new business and initiating relationships with the "not ready yet crowd" - is how you grow a sustainable donor base.

The riches are in your niches - but the fortune is in the follow up...

INTERNATIONAL PRESIDIUM MEETING at Abad Plaza, Kochi

Dear All,

We had an excellent program planned for the past two days. The entire sequence of events went very well with meticulous planning.

This occasion was so special with the presence of all the top leaders of our group in the same hotel. Their vision on the future of YMI was elaborately discussed and our IP addressed the gathering in his own unique way that needs to be carried over to every single person of our club across the globe.

The International Presidium Members had a marathon discussion in a single stretch and came out with valuable inputs on all topics.

A great opportunity was given for all the International and Area Program Directors to express themselves with their views and perspectives.

All our leaders discussed and selected a nice place to stay with exceptional hospitality for everyone without any expenditure.

My sincere thanks to the organising team and the International team for hosting these enriching meetings. I'm sure we will all do our best to achieve our mission beyond the expected level.

Returning back full of positive energy.

Thank you all

HOW TO NAVIGATE DIFFICULT CONVERSATIONS FOR PERSONAL GROWTH

Don't shy away from tough conversations, they're the only ones that actually matter.

I spent three weeks avoiding a conversation with a key customer who'd gone quiet after our last demo. I kept telling myself they were "just busy" or "evaluating internally."

Finally, I called them directly: "I get the sense something didn't land right in our last conversation. Can you help me understand what happened?"

Their response changed everything.

"Honestly, your solution is impressive, but it solves a problem we had six months ago. Our priorities have completely shifted, and we didn't know how to tell you."

That five-minute conversation saved us weeks of follow-up emails and gave us crucial market intelligence about how customer needs were evolving.

Here's what I've learned about tough conversations:

The longer you wait, the tougher they get. That awkward silence after a proposal isn't going to resolve itself. Address it directly.

Most "tough" conversations aren't actually tough. They're just uncomfortable because we're afraid of what we might learn.

The information you get is always more valuable than the comfort you preserve.

Even brutal feedback moves you forward faster than polite silence.

Three conversations I stopped avoiding:

"It seems like this isn't a priority anymore. Should we pause?" (Usually reveals the real timeline and decision-making process)

"What would need to change for this to be a clear yes?" (Gets to actual objections instead of vague concerns)

"Who else needs to be convinced, and what are they worried about?" (Exposes the real decision-making structure)

The pattern:

Every tough conversation I've delayed has gotten easier once I actually had it.

The counterintuitive result:

Customers respect directness. They'd rather have an honest conversation than continue a polite charade.

What conversation are you avoiding right now? What would happen if you had it this week instead of next month?
